Reception and Art Exhibition at Kilohana Club.

On Monday evening the Kilohana Club held a reception for Mr. D. Howard Hitchcock in order that Honoluluans might have an opportunity of viewing the artist's latest work. There were many beautiful paintings shown and much interest was displayed by the guests. During the evening light refreshments were served to a number of young ladies. Among those present were Mrs. Henry Waterhouse, Mr. and Mrs. Carl du Roi, Mrs. John T. Warren, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Arledge, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Herbert Jones, Miss Mary Bordan, Mrs. Sethland, Mrs. H. R. Reidford, Miss Polson, Mr. A. R. Gurney, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. William Love, Dr. Emerson, Mrs. Byron O. Clark, Mrs. Leslie Clark, Mr. and Mrs. William Wall, Mrs. Marion Campbell, Mrs. Frederick Davis, Mrs. Hansen, Miss Williamson, Miss Agnes Alexander, Miss Bulford, Mrs. Andrews and others.

Trustees, Faculty and Senior Class of Oahu College Entertained.

The annual reception for the trustee, faculty and senior class of Oahu college took place last Friday evening at the home of President and Mrs. A. F. Griffiths.

A musical program was arranged by Miss Margaret Clark, who was assisted by Miss Caldwell, Miss Latham, Miss Gertrude Wadman, Mrs. Charlotte Ewing and Mr. Miller. Miss Clark read a paper on the three classes of music, the classical, romantic, and modern. Then before the selections were rendered she also read of the characteristics of the composer of the selection.

At the conclusion of the program refreshments were served and the remainder of the evening was spent in conversation. Those yearly affairs are looked forward to by the trustees and faculty as well as by the students for they are always enjoyable as well as instructive.

Mrs. J. G. Rothwell Entertains at a Swimming Party and Chowder Supper.

Soloist and Orchestra in Dual Triumph.

Mrs. Charles L. Hall Flatteringly Received by Big Audience at Symphony

Introducing to the public a Hawaiian-and-Honolulu-trained singer of much promise, the Honolulu Symphony Orchestra last night gave the second of its concerts since it was revived and rejuvenated a number of months ago. The result of the concert was flattering to the musical organization and a real pleasure to discriminating critics, and to artists and audience alike proved conclusively that Honolulu can and will support sincere attempts at musical progress.

Mrs. Charles L. Hall made her first appearance as a soprano soloist last night. Her singing, however, has been heard here before, but those who remember the comparatively few occasions when she has appeared as a soloist were agreeably surprised last night. Unquestionably there is much of promise in this young singer. It would be unfair to criticize her on the basis of completed education, for she is still in the pupil stage, and there is a great deal of work for her yet to do. Her equipment of a sweet and pure lyric soprano, of considerable range and with symptoms of power, is a good groundwork upon which her teacher, Mrs. Bruce McV. Marshall, has been building with plenty of success.

Mrs. Hall sang two light numbers, the Gavotte from Faustini's "Manon" and "Cant de Macchante" by Bergberg, with perhaps the best effect of the evening. Her featured number was the recitative and aria "Ballate" from Leoncavallo's "Pagliacci," in which she was at times slightly at a loss, but not so much, one suspects, from lack of ability to sing the long recitative and aria, as from some nervousness, which seemed to appear when the footlights were turned on after she had begun the number. She has still to develop more spontaneity of expression, and her attack was occasionally uncertain. In the Pagliacci recitative particularly she sang as if repeating a lesson. All these matters, however, are to be cured by hard work and greater musical experience, and she established her popularity in her home city unmistakably last night.

Mozart's wonderful G Minor Symphony was the chief presentation of the symphony orchestra for the evening, and the orchestra did remarkably well in the interpretation of this difficult composition. In the first two movements, the Allegro Molto and the Andante, there were some well-done and some badly-done passages, but the inimitable swing of the Minuet and Trio in the third, Allegretto, brought the members together finely, and the intricate symphony was finished in triumph. Occasional flaws might be picked with the wood-wind section, and the horns once failed to respond instantly and fully. The pitfalls of the minor key in this composition are hard to avoid. As on the orchestra's first appearance, the lack of numbers operated against the fullest success of developing a well-knit and aggressive tone-body. But of the general work of the orchestra, of its rising victoriously above handicaps and difficulties, too much cannot be said.

The overture, Beethoven's "Egmont," was not particularly noteworthy, but the closing numbers, two Spanish dances by Rubinstein, maintained the high level of achievement set by the orchestra in the latter part of the Mozart symphony.

Mrs. L. Tenney Peck accompanied the soloist with her never-failing success. Not a little of the young singer's ability to get through her first appearance so well was due to the sympathetic work of her accompanist.

A special word of praise should be bestowed on Carl Milner, director of the orchestra. He has proved not only his thorough musicianship, but his ability to handle his difficult undertaking without yielding to disappointing drawbacks.

The audience was large enough to make a full house.

The personnel of the orchestra is as follows:

Carl Milner, director.

CROUP.

This disease is so dangerous and rapid in its development that every mother of young children should be prepared for it. It is very risky to wait until the attack of croup appears and then send for medicine and let the child suffer until it can be obtained. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is prompt and effective and has never been known to fail in any case. For sale by all dealers. Benson, Smith & Co., Ltd., agents for Hawaii—advertisement.
